WELCOME ADDRESS

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

Assalamualaikum and best wishes

It gives us great pleasure to welcome you to the 33th congress of the Malaysian Paediatric Association in Kota Bharu, Kelantan.

The theme of this year’s congress is E-Paediatrics, essentials, emergencies and ethics. The scientific program consists of a wide variety of essential topics in paediatrics, intertwined with talks on selected emergencies and discussions on ethical issues. There are multiple sessions focusing on nursing and care by paramedics for the sick children. The holistic approach we want for the children under our care is reflected in the program.

We choose to start this congress with ‘Hard Talk” style of debate focussing on the Millennium Development Goal. The countdown to this is extremely important and a serious and honest debate is needed.

We also choose to close this congress with another, hopefully a powerful message on Inequalities concerning child care. A panel of experienced speakers will also debate and provide their views on this and important lessons can be learnt from this.

It is hoped that the formal sessions during the pre-congresses and the congress will stimulate discussions among the specialists that could provide a basis for solid plans to improve still at a faster pace the care and future of our children. Certainly the beauty of enchanting Kelantan will contribute to the flow of ideas. While some may prefer a shopping spree in the border towns with Thailand, others will search for the magnificent beaches or for a kampung-stay at Pasir Belanda. Also, only slightly more than an hour away from the congress venue is the idyllic coral island, Perhentian, just across the border with Terengganu.

On behalf of the executive committee, I wish all participants a fruitful congress during which old friendship ties are renewed and strengthened. I thank also the organising committee and the secretariat of the MPA for their support and efforts to make this congress a success.

Kota Bharu, a city in Malaysia, is the state capital and Royal City of Kelantan. It is also the name of the territory (jajahan) in which Kota Bharu City is situated. The name means ‘new city’ or ‘new castle/fort’ in Malay. Kota Bharu is situated in the northeastern part of Peninsular Malaysia, and lies near the mouth of the Kelantan River at 6°8'N 102°15'E / 6.133°N 102.25°E. In 2005, it had an estimated population of 425,294, making it one of the largest towns on the east coast of Peninsular Malaysia. By 2009, it became by far the most populous town on the east coast of Peninsular Malaysia with an estimated population of 577,301 and continues to increase to the estimated population of 609,886 in 2010 thus make it the most dense town on the east coast of Peninsular Malaysia. Kota Bharu is at rank of 10th in the list of the largest cities in Malaysia.

This northeastern Malaysian city is close to the Thai border, and is home to many mosques. Also of interest are various museums and the unique architecture of the old royal palace (still occupied by the sultan and sultanah and off-limits to visitors but viewable from outside) and former royal buildings (which can be visited) in the center of town.

The City is served by Keretapi Tanah Melayu’s East Coast Line at the nearby Wakaf Bharu Terminal Station, in the town of Wakaf Bharu across the Kelantan River to Stesten Railway Station and Sultan Ismail Petra Airport, located in Pengkalan Chepa.

Climate

Kota Bharu features a tropical rainforest climate. Kota Bharu does not have a true dry season as all 12 months sees on average more than 60 mm of precipitation. However, Kota Bharu experiences noticeably heavier rainfall from August through January. Also, in comparison to the rest of the year, Kota Bharu experiences slightly cooler temperatures between December and February, than it does during the rest of the year. The city sees on average about 2700 mm of precipitation annually.

Culture

Islamic influence

On 1 October 2005, Kota Bharu was declared Kota Bharu, The Islamic City (Kota Bharu Bandaraya Islam). This title is given to cities which observe Islamic principles in every aspect of daily life. The Azan (prayer call), can be heard everywhere, even in shopping malls. All activities in the city must be stopped for a while to respect the Azan.
One of the most significant Islamic influences is the prevalence of Jawi script (a modified form of Arabic script in writing the Malay language) in the names of streets, shops, signboards and restaurants. A unique thing as compared to other states in Malaysia is that even the signboards of the local Chinese premises bear the Jawi script besides the Chinese character and the compulsory Roman script.

Social activities that do not contradict with the Islamic norm are allowed. Government offices and many stores are closed on Fridays and Saturdays, but the vibrant markets remain open except for Islamic prayer times.

The Kelantan state government under PAS, a conservative Islamic party has implemented some Islamic laws. These include switching on lights in cinemas during screening time until cinemas were closed down. and separate check-out counters in supermarkets for males and females and khalwat, the Islamic rule on proximity between males and females, which is applied only to Muslims.

The Kota Bharu Municipal Council, the local government authority, discourage the wearing of indecent attire by female employees in retail outlets and restaurants. Those who are caught for dressing indecently may be fined up to RM 500. The definition of indecent dressing include “body hugging outfits which show off the body, blouses which show the navel, see through blouses, mini-skirts and tight pants.

Food
Nasi berlauk, Nasi Dagang and nasi kerabu are popular local cuisine. Kelantanese also have a liking for sweet cakes or kuih. These include apom, akok, lompat tikam, netbak, pisang goreng, curry puff and much more.

Shopping
The more famous shopping destination in Kota Bharu is Pasar Siti Khadijah (Kota Bharu Central Market), where many goods are sold. Most of the sellers are women. Next to Central Market is the nearly completed construction of Kota Bharu Trade Center (KBTC) which is considered one of the largest mall in Kota Bharu and has opened in August 2009. Parkson is the anchor tenant for this shopping mall. These two buildings are connected by an overpass on the second floor. Other shopping centers in Kota Bharu are KB Mall, Pelangi Mall, Kota Seri Mutiara, Pantai Timur, The Store and the new Nirwana Maju (at Bandar Baru Kubang Kerian). A new Tesco hypermarket has opened in 2008. Most of Kota Bharu’s downtown shopping area is currently undergoing a major reconstruction and several multi-story shopping centers are in their early construction phases in this vicinity. By March 2010, a new Mydin Mall has been opened and located at Bandar Baru Kubang Kerian on the east. Other shopping complex will open soon is Mydin Mall, is located at Bandar Baru Tunjong on south of Kota Bharu. Giant Hypermarket also take place to be open in Bandar Baru Tunjong.

Beaches
All major beaches in the Kota Bharu vicinity are currently prone to excessive erosion by strong surf. The community has been implementing wave breakers and tries to protect the shoreline by piling up massive amounts of boulders. Regular beach activity has become impossible as visitors frequent beaches further south. The famous beach in kota bharu as tourist attraction is Pantai Cahaya bulan.
KOTA BHARU IN BRIEF

Wreck Diving

Diving in Kota Bharu is a relatively new activity, with only one dive operator currently offering trips out to the Japanese Invasion Wreck (IJN Awazisan Maru). This Japanese transport ship was the very first vessel to sink in The Pacific War. There is a vast variety of marine life around the ship, most notably the giant barracudas that circle around. The wreck is only a 30 minute boat journey from the jetty, which is 10 minutes outside of Kota Bharu.
